

FOCUS Chaplain and Campus Ministry

FOCUS missionaries work alongside campus chaplains and campus ministers at the college or university where they serve. In addition to these many chaplains around the country, FOCUS also has nine national chaplains who offer pastoral care and support both on campuses and from the national office.

Collaboration on Campus

FOCUS' outreach is designed to coordinate with the current programs of the campus chaplain and campus ministry. Our missionaries' goal is to meet students where they are on campus — in the dorms, on the sports fields, in the student union — and to bring them into the life of the Catholic campus community. Campus ministers often work to meet the needs of the students who come through the doors of the Newman or Catholic Center. In this way, we accomplish together the same goal of helping students encounter Jesus and the fullness of the Catholic faith. FOCUS also trains students to go out on campus to their peers, allowing the reach of the campus ministry to stretch even further across campus.

“Having FOCUS missionaries on campus is like multiplying our campus ministry by four or more. I have 14,000 students on campus, and there are only 24 hours in the day. Our Sunday Mass attendance and daily Mass attendance continue to go up.” —Fr. Mike Schmitz, chaplain at the University of Minnesota-Duluth

Fr. Doug Grandon — God bless Dan Erisman, who challenged me to read through the Gospel of Matthew and introduced me to Christ when I was 14 years old! Ever since, I've had a passion to do for others what Dan did with me. When I was 15, my first pastor helped me discern that I would one day be ordained. In my early 20s, I served as a missionary translator in Communist Yugoslavia. When I returned home, I married my wife, Lynn, a woman vastly superior to me — and a proud Swede! While attending my first seminary, I started a new church for the Evangelical Free Church and, later, served five years as an Episcopal priest. In 2003, Lynn and I became Catholic, along with our four youngest children. In 2008, Pope Benedict granted Daniel Jenky, Bishop of Peoria, permission to ordain me a married Catholic priest, under the Pastoral Provision created by Pope St. John Paul II. Since my ordination, I've served four parishes and taught at St. John Vianney Seminary in Denver. In 2015, FOCUS' founder, Curtis Martin, invited me to join the FOCUS staff as a part-time National Chaplain. And now, what a privilege it is to serve full time with FOCUS!

Fr. Martin Latiff, M.C., is a priest of the Miles Christi religious order. Born in Buenos Aires, he studied philosophy at the Miles Christi School of Philosophy in Argentina and theology at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit, Michigan. Since his ordination to the priesthood in 2005, he has preached numerous retreats and days of recollection across the U.S. and has served many high school and college students through spiritual direction and faith formation. In January 2017, he joined the team of FOCUS National Chaplains. He currently lives with his Miles Christi religious community in San Diego. He is also one of the spiritual directors at Cathedral Catholic High School in Carmel Valley, California, and one of the chaplains at the University of San Diego.

Fr. Martin Mayerhofer, F.S.O., was born in Bavaria, Germany. He joined his community The Spiritual Family "The Work" in 1993. Following studies in Rome at the Pontifical Universities Angelicum and Gregoriana, he was ordained a priest in 2002. He served as an assistant priest in the Diocese of Feldkirch and within his community in Bregenz, both in Austria. Upon completing his doctoral studies in Church history, Fr. Martin worked as a university chaplain in Vienna, Austria. During this period, he continued his research in the field of Church history and taught at Vienna University and other ecclesiastical institutions. He spent the 2018 – 2019 academic year as a visiting professor at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Since the fall of 2019, he has taught at the International Theological Institute in Trumau, Austria, and works for FOCUS as a chaplain for its European missions.

Fr. Michael Drea has served as National Chaplain for Mission Development since 2018. Some of his responsibilities include assisting in engagement of current and prospective benefactors; co-leading Church VIP effort; serving as a spiritual leader for MD and key volunteer groups, FOCUS Share and Campus care and expansion. He earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Boston College and, after an early career in development, he entered St. John's Seminary in Boston for priestly formation. He was ordained a priest for the Archdiocese of Boston in 2004 and has served as parochial vicar, pastor and as Catholic chaplain at Harvard University. While at Harvard, Fr. Drea invited FOCUS to work with him and the community in evangelization and outreach.
